

THE YOUNG BIRD

LA PICHONA

BY DAVID MONTOSA

Inma has always done as she's told; at just 15 years old she already takes care of the house in the morning, (she has an older brother but this task falls to her of course) and learns sewing in the afternoon. In the mornings, the men go bird hunting and she keeps them warm with coffee and tobacco. One of them, Ramón, comes on to her for the first time despite her brother's constant control. That day, back in bed and talking to Jacinta, her best friend, she realizes that she is still with Ramon and learns that Jacinta may be pregnant, so they both start their own personal journey and Inma will try something for the first time: she will do whatever she wants.
