

CLIMACTERIC

CLIMATERI

BY LILIANA TORRES

After her mother's death, Selva (40s) starts to experience strange symptoms. She visits her hometown to sell the family house. She will never return to her pleasant urban lifestyle. In the rural town she will discover the exploitation of the landscape due to stockbreeding. The doctor diagnoses premature menopause which is the cause of all the symptoms. But her transformation will go beyond the limits of the human body to reclaim nature's struggle to survive.
