LA BANDERA

BY MARTÍN CUERVO

Tomas, an elderly father, has invited his two sons, Jesus and Antonio, to dinner to give them important news. Once the evening has begun, which is also attended by Lina, his caregiver, Tomás takes his time to spill his news. He seems to enjoy keeping his family in suspense, making them believe the most outlandish stories and driving them out of their minds. At one point, Jesús discovers that Tomás has hung a huge flag on the terrace that we never see. That fact, apparently anecdotal, breaks the peace of the evening and the two brothers start a confrontation in which the stakes are not only the fate of the family inheritance, but also the love of their own father.
